

Invitation from Creation Research Society

The Creation Research Society looks forward to a strong and harmonious relationship with Creation Ministries International. Our technical journal, Creation Research Society Quarterly, and CMI's Journal of Creation both represent important and high quality creation science scholarship. Such quality science has been the primary focus of the Creation Research Society since it was founded 43 years ago, and many of our members have been frequent contributors to Journal of Creation's predecessor (TJ). As the only international society for young-earth, biblical creation scientists, we invite all readers of the Journal of Creation to consider membership in the Creation Research Society. Information about membership (which includes a subscription to the Quarterly) can be obtained from our website: <www.creationresearch.org>, or by contacting us at Creation Research Society, 6801 N. Hwy 89, Chino Valley, AZ, 86323, USA; phone: +1 928 636 1153.
